OPERATING SCHEMES

The Bioline procedures called “A, B and C Operating Schemes” (according to the different sequence of movements performed) allow to boost the effect and beauty effectiveness of the products applied during the treatment.

operating scheme

RELAXATION AND DECONTRACTION PHASE

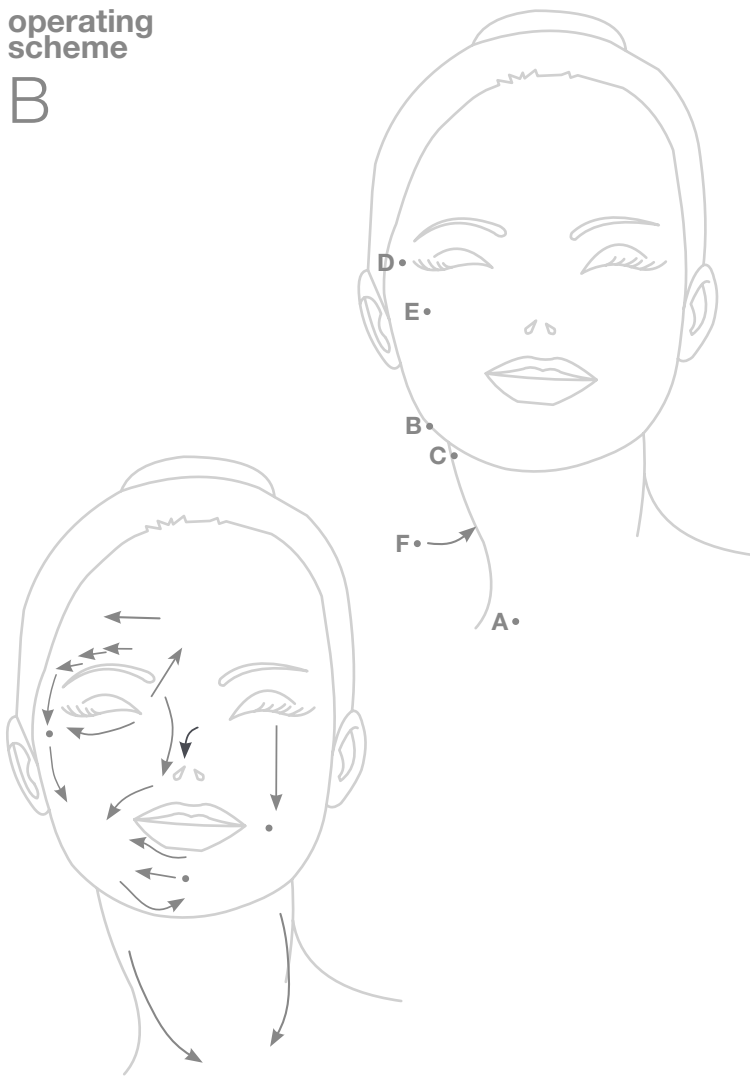

The aim of Operating Scheme A is to place the client in a greater relaxation status, decontracting all the stress points residing in her muscles, and to oxygenate her tissues.

Operating Scheme A results from the blending of various massage techniques, such as in-depth manoeuvres focusing on the connective tissues, roulage, kneading.

For these manoeuvres, the use of the BIOAROMA RELAXING EQL OIL is recommended, thanks to its relaxing action.

Apply a few drops on the trapezius muscle, temples and hairline.

1. Decontract and loosen forehead lines, working along the hairline placing the thumbs side by side.
2. Roulage on the forehead, starting from the centre and moving outward, from one side and repeat on the other of the face.
3. Micro-kneading along the eyebrow arch, starting from the centre of the face and moving outward. Repeat on the other eyebrow arch.
4. Micro-kneading on the face contour, starting from the centre of the chin and moving outward. Repeat on the other side of the face.
5. De-contraction of the scalp. With the fingertips carry out small rotating movements, without any friction, making the tissue slide on the deep surfaces.
6. Using your thumb, manipulate and loosen as you work on three spots on the trapezius muscle, first on one side and then on the other.
7. With the fingertips on the paravertebral grooves, to the cervical area, in two movements.
8. Stretching manoeuvres with flat hands, toward the trapezius outwards and towards the shoulders.
9. Traction of the neck with both hands, slow and gradual back and forth.

PREPARATION FOR ACTIVE INGREDIENTS' ABSORPTION PHASE

The aim of this type of manoeuvres is to stimulate the absorption of the functional ingredients present in the Bioline products.

Light pumping of the main lymphatic ganglions improves the skin's microcirculation, so that the tissues are well oxygenated and all metabolic cell functions are set in motion.

Thanks to its draining action, the BIOAROMA energy drn oil is recommended.

Apply a few drops of oil on main lymphatic ganglions area.

draining of the ganglion chains

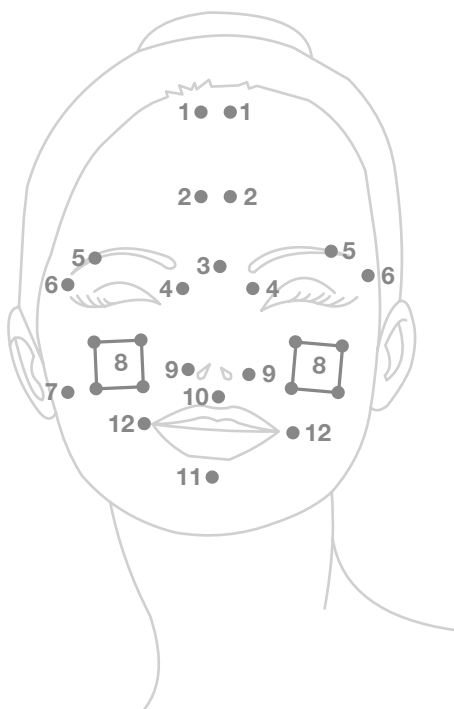

Pumping:

1. Terminus (A)
2. Angulus (B) + Profundus (C) + Terminus (A)
3. Temporalis (D) + Parotis (E) + Angulus (B) + Profundus (C) + Terminus (A)
4. Occipitalis (F) + Profundus (C) + Terminus (A)

Repeat the manoeuvres 3 times at least.

Depending on the specific cases, you can decide to also carry out the lymphatic draining of the face, which continues with the draining of the following areas:

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. Under the chin, angulus. | to the face contour, pumping at the angulus). |
| 2. Chin, contour, angulus. | |
| 3. Lower lip, angulus. | 10. Suborbicularis (resting your fingertips, except the thumb, and raising rhythmically in succession from the inside towards the outside). |
